San Francisco Bomb Victim Describes Outrage

Witnesses Tell of Scramble for Suit Case on Walk

Rescue Work Rushed, Police Lieutenant

San Francisco, June 12.—(By A. P. Night Wire.)—The testimony of Dr. David K. Moore, former autopsy surgeon, that the majority of wounds on the body of the victim of the bomb explosion of July 22, 1916, had been made by a single bullet, was one of the outstanding features of the trial today. The prosecution called Dr. Moore to the witness stand to testify that the explosion took place in the street, and that the bomb was hurled from a building on the corner of Market and Main streets.

Dr. Moore testified that he had examined the body of the victim, and that he had found a single bullet wound in the leg, which had been made by a single bullet. He testified that the bullet had entered the leg from the front, and that it had passed through the leg, and had come to rest in the bone. He testified that the bullet had been fired from a distance of about 100 feet.

Mrs. Moore's eyes were closed when she was killed. She was walking with a cane, and she was carrying a suitcase. She was walking from the corner of Market and Main streets, toward the corner of Main and Broadway streets. She was walking in the middle of the street, and she was walking in the direction of the explosion.

Police Lieutenant Stephen Brummer testified that he was on duty on the corner of Market and Main streets at the time of the explosion. He testified that he saw the explosion, and that he saw the victim being hurled into the air. He testified that he saw the victim falling to the ground, and that he saw the victim being killed.

Other witnesses called today were T. E. Stetler, a veteran, who said he saw the explosion, and that he saw the victim being hurled into the air. He testified that he saw the victim falling to the ground, and that he saw the victim being killed.

Francis J. Smith, a witness, testified that he was on duty on the corner of Market and Main streets at the time of the explosion. He testified that he saw the explosion, and that he saw the victim being hurled into the air. He testified that he saw the victim falling to the ground, and that he saw the victim being killed.

RUSSIAN SLACKERS HELD UNDER BOND.

PHOENIX, June 12.—This afternoon the United States Court Commissioner was held the preliminary hearing of the Russian Molokans, who have refused to register for the selective draft.

Taken to the Federal Building in a lot of a dozen, the men were hustled all the way. Sheriff Wilkey beating time, and had to be warned against jumping in the courtroom. They were committed under bail bonds of $100 each, the small sum called for by many employers, who offered to be responsible for men needed by them in the fields. About half the men were taken out by eager farmers at once and the rest can go if they will agree to employ themselves at the highest wages locally paid in agricultural work.

The fear is expressed of their decamping before court session time next fall. The Sheriff expresses his opinion that the wrong men have been jailed and suggests that it would be far better to imprison three or more elders to have been responsible, through adverse counsel, in the refusal of the young men to register.

Government's Dinner to American General and His Party, at Which Lloyd George Precedence, Concludes Social Programme for Military Party in England.

LONDON, June 12, 2:04 p.m.—The elaborate plans that had been made for the entertainment today of the enlisted men of Gen. Pershing's party were cancelled this morning because of a military order that all the men report at a local hospital for inoculations, which would occupy the entire day.

While Gen. Pershing and his staff were guests at the dinner of the Minister of War, at a luncheon this afternoon, Lord Denham escorted the other American officers through the House of Lords. A large number of the officers also found time to visit King's College, where they saw the "Museum" teaching of French and other foreign languages to the officers.

The government's dinner to Gen. Pershing and his party, at which Premier Lloyd George will preside, concludes the social programme for the party in this country.

TO INVEST SURPLUS FUNDS IN BONDS. SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—Surplus county funds may be invested in Liberty Loan bonds, Atty. Gen. U. S. Webb ruled here today, answering the request for an opinion made by Walter E. Norris, District Attorney of Monterey county. "Surplus," the ruling says, means county money, "no matter in what fund, which is not required for immediate necessities."

The Attorney-General found no authority for the investment of school funds by the counties.

ALL UTE INDIANS HAVE REGISTERED. [BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.] DURANGO (Colo.) June 12.—All Ute Indians on the San Ignacio reservation have registered, according to a message from the headquarters of the reservation tonight. The chiefs, named Poik and Pomey, with a party of followers, continue to refuse to submit to authority and are out in the hills with a plentiful supply of arms. Fear that they will attack settlers, however, is subsiding.

TEACHING COOKERY TO THE SOLDIERS. [BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.] CHICAGO, June 12.—Hotel men of the United States will organize a force of cooks for teaching cookery in the camps of the American soldier, it was decided today at the annual meeting of the American Hotel Association. Fifty thousand dollars will be raised for the purpose.

SMALL INVESTOR IS RESPONDING

Gratifying Progress on the Liberty Loan Reported.

Urgent Call from Treasury Department is Sent.

Liberty Bell of Philadelphia will Ring Tomorrow. [BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.] WASHINGTON, June 12.—Treasury officials declared tonight that because of the failure of many banks to report they had been unable even to estimate the progress of the Liberty Loan since last Friday night, when only $1,000,000,000 of the $2,000,000,000 apparently had been taken.

Another urgent call went out from the treasury tonight, asking banks to report subscriptions so officials may be no longer kept in the dark. Reports by telephone and telegraph today from many cities told of gratifying progress, but in many cases contained no figures. The small subscriber, on the face of today's general reports, has a very large number of individual subscriptions to the $50 and $100 bonds.

There will have to be a tremendous number of such subscriptions if the loan is to show the $100,000,000 a day needed for the closing seven days. One official predicted tonight that the total number of subscribers would approximate 1,000,000. He based his prediction on reports from all regional banks and many other financial institutions.

OFFICIALS IN DARK. As the situation stands tonight, officials frankly do not know whether the $100,000,000 a day has been obtained. Thousands of banks have failed to notify the reserve banks of progress made.

To insure success, the closing days of the campaign will be devoted to redoubled efforts to bring out the dollars of the small investor. As part of this campaign, the old Liberty Bell at Philadelphia, which proclaimed to the world the birth of the American republic 141 years ago, will ring once more in the cause of liberty. Next Thursday at noon, beginning the last twenty-four hours of the subscription period, the clapper of the bell will be sent resounding against its cracked sides. Mayor Smith of Philadelphia will be the bell ringer.

At the same hour in every city, town, village and hamlet throughout the country, the bells of churches, schools, courthouses and townhalls will take up the call. Factory whistles will blow a chorus.

APPEAL TO WORKERS. To the workers of the country, Secretary Wilson today addressed a personal appeal, urging them to rally their savings for the loan. "Liberty, humanity and progress require that we must win this war," he said. "Our institutions and our right to govern ourselves are at stake. Funds must be forth-

SAN FRANCISCO LOAN MEETING.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.] SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—A Liberty Loan mass meeting will be held here tomorrow night at the Exposition Auditorium for the purpose of helping to raise the $12,000,000 necessary to complete San Francisco's quota of $13,000,000.

Mayor James Rolph, Jr., today issued a proclamation calling upon the people to assemble in a great patriotic demonstration in behalf of the Liberty Loan.

Chamberlain's Colle and Diarrhoea Remedy. Mrs. Charles Palmer, Andrews, Ind., says, "Chamberlain's Colle and Diarrhoea Remedy has given me prompt relief. From my own experience and that of my friends and neighbors, I know it will do all that is claimed for it." (Advertisement.)

HIS LOVE FOR GOLF. [BY A. P. DAY WIRE.] Fondness for golf and delight in the company of his fellow-men were widely known out-of-office characteristics of Mr. Copp.

The vigor and discernment which led to his selection successively for two of the four superintendencies in the Associated Press service, gave him equal success in his avocations. Juice of Lemons!
How to Make Skin
White and Beautiful

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quart of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months.

Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan, and is the ideal skin softener, smoothener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quart of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It should naturally help to whiten, soften, freshen and bring out the roses and beauty of any skin. It is truly marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands.

When my little son was about four months old a rash broke out on his head. It kept spreading until his head was covered and the rash was very large, deep eruptions. He would scratch and rub his head on the pillow and when he was asleep he would become thin and dry, and all fell out. This lasted for six months.

A friend advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I got them. After I used one box of Cuticura Soap and one bar of Cuticura Soap his head was healed. (Signed) Mrs. S. B. B. Box 55, Harris, Minn., Sept. 15, 1916.

OWN FIGURES CONFOUND IT.

San Francisco's Attack Upon this City Kicks Back.

Government's Estimate Shows Us Far in the Lead.

Los Angeles Beats Bay City and County Together.

The official estimate of the population of Los Angeles is 533,535, according to a report received yesterday by Mayor Woodman from the United States Census Bureau.

The population of Pasadena is given as 44,000, while the total population of Los Angeles county is estimated at 747,616.

Based upon some home-made mathematics and couched in a humor which is not to be taken too seriously, the report received yesterday by Mayor Woodman from the United States Census Bureau.

One of the leading morning papers of the Bay City came out last Friday with something over a column of thinly-disguised railing at Los Angeles.

The broad acres of the city of Los Angeles were populated in imagination with more than 1,000,000 persons.

The government estimates for the two cities compiled by the Census Bureau, were made public for both yesterday, turning San Francisco's population of 192,000 of estimated figures.

SNAKES REVEL AROUND HOMES.

Fifth Avenue Stays Indoors as Reptiles, One Nine Feet Long, Disport.

Fifth avenue remained indoors for some time yesterday. The residents feared snakes. A large reptile, accompanied by several smaller ones allured over the well-kept lawns; basked in the hose streams and frightened children and dogs.

Motorcycle Officer Fred Meyer killed two of the visitors. One of them was more than nine feet long and of the gopher snake variety.

PROMINENT MAN CALLED SLAYER

Detectives Believe He Killed George W. Quick.

Car Damaged and Owner Spoke of a Collision.

Witnesses to Accident Ready to Identify Him.

The mystery of who killed George W. Quick, the long-missing man whose body was found buried in the Potter's Field under the name of Charles Johnson, will be solved within a day or two with the naming of a prominent Los Angeles business man as the person responsible for the fatality, according to the police detectives and those of the M. E. Firman agency, retained by the widow.

Information was turned over to Chief Butler yesterday indicating that Mr. Quick was killed by an automobile. The man who drove the death car is said to have become so frightened that he left the injured man lying at Seventh and Los Angeles streets. This occurred on March 23. Shortly afterwards pedestrians found the victim. The recovering hospital was lying in the street, but the informer refused to give his name. It is believed by O. C. Firman that this person was responsible for the fatality. There are witnesses who can positively identify him.

As a result of the accident, the machine's fender and the radiator were bent. To friends, the owner is known to have mentioned a collision over which he was much perturbed. This information was turned over to Chief Butler yesterday.

Detective Firman, working for the bureau, who detailed Detective Louis Rice on the search for the autoist, is following a similar clue.

After months of anxious endeavoring to solve the mystery of her husband's disappearance, Mrs. George W. Quick, accompanied by friends, buried her husband for the second time yesterday. The funeral was conducted by W. A. Brown, undertaker, and the body was laid to rest in the family burial plot at Downey Cemetery.

The widow stated last night that she would bend every effort toward locating the person or persons responsible for her husband's death.

"Until his body was found buried in a pauper's grave," she said, "it still was a little hopeful that I would find him."

HAVE YOU PAID INCOME TAX?

Millions of Dollars of the Two Millions Due Hereabouts is Still Out.

With Friday the last day for payment of the income tax in the sixth internal Revenue District, Collector Carter estimated yesterday that $1,000,000 of the $2,000,000 to be collected in this district is still outstanding. A number of large payments were received yesterday, but much is yet to be tendered. An appeal is made to the patriotic sentiment of those liable to the tax, for the money is badly needed by the United States Treasury. The date will not be extended under any circumstances, it is asserted, and the collector will have to settle with the government later on.

Two Victims. SCALDED BY STEAM. Supply Pipe in Hotel Bureau and Engineer, Badly Burned About Body, is Recovered by Fire Laddies—Child Hurt in a Gas Blast.

Dan Holland, 23 years old, of No. 5507 Long Beach avenue, engineer of the Westminster Hotel, received first and second degree burns on the arm, leg and body, when a steam pipe exploded in the hotel engine room late last night. He was rescued by members of the fire department, who were called to combat the live steam, and taken to private hospital.

Sydney J. Goldberg, 3 years old, was whipped last evening for running near the gas stove in his home, No. 984 North Soto street. Ten minutes later he was killed by a gas explosion, which caused the burning of the range, lit a match and threw the flame into the midst of the escaping fumes. He was rushed to the Receiving Hospital for treatment by his father, Felix Chausseur Goldberg. The baby was severely burned on the face and arms.

SOLD SOLDIER'S LIQUOR. Fred Bernard, a marine dragoon, was arrested at Los Angeles Harbor last night on a charge of violating the National Prohibition Act. According to the police he made a practice of securing bottled beer in a pauper's grave, and then selling it to uniformed soldiers. He is held in the San Pedro jail pending trial.

BACK TO HIS CELL. Richard Holden, the prison Romeo, who wooed the sweethearts of other prisoners by skillful writing while serving a term in San Quentin, will go back to the latter today to serve three more years. He was convicted of having cashed a check and was sentenced to San Quentin by Superior Judge Craig yesterday. The convict is reported to have been so adept at writing love letters that his services were in demand among the swains who were behind the bars. After he secured the names and addresses of the young women, it is alleged he conducted a little correspondence of his own, and after he concluded his prison term, he called personally on his postal acquaintances. Persons interested in his behalf informed the court that he had spent much money on women he met in this way, and it was really due to his prison romances that he must return to prison again.

GALLANT GERMAN JAILED AS A FIANCEE-SWINDLER. RICHARD EHRMANN, a bold and gallant German, with a way with women and who is reputed to have waxed most prosperous in his love affairs, was placed in the County Jail yesterday on a charge of embezzlement. The charge grew out of the arrival here several weeks ago of Miss Olga Hartmann, a comely German girl. She came to marry Ehrmann, she said, but she remains to prosecute him. She charges him with having taken her diamonds, valued at $1000, and $1200 in money, which she brought with her to start her married life in a manner becoming a bride of her expectations. Miss Hartmann said she left Germany during late 1914 because of the unpleasant conditions due to the war. She had no relatives in this country and was very lonely, she said, although she had sufficient funds to care for herself without worry. She said she read an advertisement in a German religious weekly, in which Ehrmann is alleged to have said he was a wealthy landowner of Southern California, with a town and country homes. He sought the so-

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.

CHIEF EVENTS OF YESTERDAY.
(At Home.) On account of the general financial situation with stiffer money rates, trading in the New York Stock Exchange proceeded with great caution. While call loans did not attain their maximum of the preceding day, time accommodations hardened for most maturities. Bonds were inclined to drop.

THE REASON.
That automobile sales are destined to increase, "in spite of the war," is the opinion of a local manager for a big company. There is little question that the sale of machines will increase, but it will probably be because of the war rather than in spite of it.

THE GREATEST QUALITY.

Young women of the University of Cincinnati have announced their consensus of opinion concerning the worth-while man. The girls all agree that the perfect man must be strong and courageous, thoughtful and tactful; that he must have an education, a sense of humor and an aim in life; that he must be capable of enjoying sports and at the same time appreciate the fire-side and, lastly, he must have self-control. If these maidens are successful in finding young men who possess the last-named quality they will be mostly for the man who has self-control usually possesses all the good qualities that they named and sometimes many more.

SPEAK GERMAN OR SHUT UP.

The German Federal Council has decided upon the repeal of the law which forbade the use in public meetings of any language except the German. This law was directed against the Danish and Polish subjects of Germany and the inhabitants of Alsace-Lorraine and was considered necessary in view of the German custom of having an official present at any public meeting so as to intervene in the event of any inadmissible utterance. The result of the law made it practically impossible for non-German minorities to hold public meetings at all. The anomaly is, why was such a law enacted in times of peace and repealed in time of war?

DUCKED HIM.

The citizens of Wabeno, Wis., were told by Dr. Hugo Miller, who was government physician during the Lacrosse (Wis.) Indian reservation, that they were "fools to make cannon fodder of themselves by registering." The Wabenos resented this advice; they resented it very much; they called at the residence of the doctor, tied a rope around his waist, escorted him to the river and threw him in. After towing him for a few minutes they hauled him out and forced him to march through the center of the town carrying an American flag at the head of a parade. Then Dr. Miller was made to kneel in the mud, kiss the American flag, retract his disloyal utterances and declare that he was a pusillitum and on the foundation of the body politic. Wabeno is an unhealthy place for slackers.

POTATOES AS PEARLS.

In a Northwestern town they had school exercises where the story of Cinderella was enacted. The girl who enacted the part of Cinderella had a glass slipper, but she was shy a string of pearls for a necklace. She was not going to let a little thing like that interfere with her performance of her part, so she procured a string of pearl potatoes, fastened them about her pretty neck and when she appeared the appreciative audience cheered her to the echo.

Tim Moore, in the face of "The Irish Lion," says that "among the barbarous customs of foreign nations is that of the sacrilegious English people who peel their potatoes before they bite them." Boli your potatoes with the skins on. If they are not eaten at dinner, fry them for breakfast. If you do not eat them when mashed, then serve them at the next meal as potato cake. Let no potato in any form ever find a lodgment in the garbage can!

CAN'T BE NEUTRAL.

It is said that there is a great unrest, even becoming more intense, among the neutral nations of the world. It is getting more difficult every day for any nation to remain neutral even in name. With the pressure of Prussian militarism on one side and the call of liberty-loving lands on the other, how can it be possible much longer for the people of any country under the sun to say with a clear conscience, "We are neutral"? Who could be neutral if he should see a loved one, or even a former enemy, in the outfit of a gigantic serpent? If a man should see a frail woman struggling in the arms of a ruffian, even though he were her husband, what would the world think and say of him or do to him if he should stand back and say, "It is a family quarrel and not for me to interfere"? Liberty was born a long time ago, but she is still a child because she has been stunted in her growth. From the breast of her beautiful mother she has drunk of the milk of human kindness, but often, when the mother slept, remorseless Tyranny has crept in and fed the baby poison from a golden bowl. If liberty is ever to grow to womanhood the tyrant must be slain before it is too late. With sneering lips and bloodshot eyes and bushy brows and horned head the tyrant has already been found in the dark forests. Who can be neutral while the tyrant lives?

CONSTANTINE AND BYZANTINE.

King Constantine of Greece has resigned. His son, Prince Alexander, succeeds him on the throne. A distinction without a difference, perhaps; but the difference may be made clear later, when full dispatches are received.

Anything that happens in Greece just now is of exceptional interest because the Entente Allies have their great Dardanelles army encamped at Saloniki—no other place than the Thessalonica of the Bible. Just why the Allies have located their troops at this place is a great mystery as the decision of Constantine to abdicate in favor of his son. But all these matters will probably be made clear in time.

King Constantine is a man of vivid imagination. The name of his wife, who is a sister of the Kaiser, is Sophia. They were married in 1899. King Constantine had high hopes of re-establishing in this and world both the "Glorious which is Greece and the Grandeur which is Rome." And can anybody describe it in more eloquent terms than our own Poe? He imagined, probably still imagines, himself to be linked, associated, related in some mystic, esoteric way, to Constantine the Great, for whom Constantinople was named and whose mantic phrase, "in hoc signo vinces," has become a part of the ritual of a branch of the Masonic order. Constantine had faith in himself because of his name; and he had (probably still has) faith in his wife because her name happens to be Sophia.

There is an old Greek prophecy, whether it comes from the Pythia or not we cannot say, that under rulers named Constantine and Sophia "the Grandeur that was Greece" would be restored. Our good friend, John Keats, once wrote to his lady love, Fanny Brawne, that "all prophecies are fulfilled." But, alas, it appears that the Greek prophecy of the restoration under a Constantine and a Sophia is not destined to be immediately realized by the potentates who have now gilded into oblivion. We may have to wait for another Constantine and still another Sophia. But we would be willing to forget their Germanic origin if only they would restore in this sad and unhappy world a moiety of the grandeur and the splendor of the antique world. One can understand why an aesthete might prefer to be a slave under a Petronius rather than a "sovereign citizen" of this day with the right to exercise his sovereignty only at a certain foul-smelling barber shop on a certain day when the decree has gone forth from some other sovereign that he may exercise his sovereignty by voting "yes" or "no" on the proposal to issue sewer bonds.

King Constantine found a nook for himself in the affections of the Greeks by a great feat of arms in the Balkan war of 1912 when he captured Saloniki and 30,000 Turks. He had in his command about 10,000 Greeks. The man who shines your shoes here in Los Angeles can tell you more of his fame and undying glory than we. But it is an interesting story, no matter who tells it, no matter the language in which it is told.

Constantine was born in August, 1863. He became King in March, 1913, after the assassination of his father. During the present war he clashed with his Premier, Venizelos, whom he ousted from office and who has now set up a provisional government of his own. The Entente Allies have been dealing with Venizelos, and France has a mission on the way to consult with Constantine as King about the harvests of Thessaly.

WHEAT FROM ARGENTINA.

Argentina reported some time ago that there were 450,000 tons of grain in that country available for the relief of the present shortage abroad. More recently the Minister of Agriculture at Buenos Aires cabled to the Argentine Ambassador at Washington that there is not a grain of wheat in that country for exportation. A still later dispatch states that the government is bending its resources to the production of a bumper wheat crop this coming season.

Argentina has an area more than one-third that of the United States, with a population only one-fourteenth as great. It has extensive tracts of fertile land, the surplus of wheat is enormous. Agricultural laborers get $7 per month, and in Buenos Aires the L.W.W.'s ride up to you on horseback, touch their hats and beg a little silver for the love of God. Wheat is planted there in August and September and harvested in January. If the present prices of wheat in Europe continue Argentina will probably double her usual crop this year.

STRUGGLE OF THE SYSTEMS.

History shows that, while Great Britain was not willing to accord, without a struggle, to our forefathers the freedom which her own subjects enjoyed, yet the British constitution has been the model for every free country which now boasts constitutional liberty.

Mr. Balfour, in a recent speech at Ottawa, stated the situation aptly when he said it was the supreme constitutional fabric which was now threatened by the aggressive policy of a military caste against which we were fighting today. He believed that the reason all the overseas dominions flocked to the flag and the motherland when war broke out was not only because of explicit devotion to the mother country, but because there was the feeling that this was not as other wars, that here was no question of ordinary international jealousy, no question of disputed boundaries, no diplomatic differences. It was a question of the survival of one or the other of two great international ideas which could not survive a peace side by side.

Mr. Balfour is right. The German ideal is openly and shamelessly proclaimed as a policy of domination, not based upon freedom, morality or law. The other ideal, not confined to the British Empire alone, is that in which freedom and self-determination are held on high, that each nation may develop its own political system, its own system of culture (not Kultur) and live in peace.

Prophets long ago declared that it was impossible for such contrary systems as those of Britain and Germany to exist together—that a crash must come sooner or later. Their predictions have been fulfilled. Said Mr. Balfour: "In view of the causes which led up to the struggle now being waged on the battlefields of France, it is easy to understand why the great republic has joined the other democracies. It is easy to appreciate why the nations are arraying themselves on one side or the other." Mr. Balfour went on to outline the necessity for continuing the war until a decisive victory had been won. "Then, when peace comes, we and our children will be able to look upon the world without fear, undisturbed and unalarmed by those now holding the world in terror."

Men of many languages and races are joined together in the great cause. Divided though they may be in history, they are united in the closest bonds, bonds inspired by a common ideal, and the best of Europe, of North America, of South America and of Eastern Asia are united in the cause of democracy against autocracy and fired by an unquenchable determination to see the war through to a successful termination.

BETTER PREPARED.

Of late those denizens of treason's twilight zone who, whether from lack of patriotism or for more malicious motives, are endeavoring to block every move made by the government in carrying out the provisions of the army draft bill, have been spreading the fallacious doctrine that because the United States did not go into the war when the Lusitania was sunk her entrance at this time will prove ineffective, because the patriotism of the country has been dulled and the sense of justice of the people stifled by reason of the large war profits made by some Americans as a result of supplying the Allies with munitions and food.

This fallacy must be apparent to one who is capable of reasoning, for the United States was not nearly so well equipped to enter the war at the time of the Lusitania's sinking as she is at present. It seems nothing short of providential that the world's store of gold should have flown to our shores and that our industrial, commercial and agricultural facilities should have been quickened and vitalized by the profits from Europe's misfortune—for what has really happened is that a huge reservoir of wealth has been stored up in the United States and is now to be released for the purpose of overwhelming Europe's Mad Mullah.

Instead of robbing the Allies, we have acted as a savings bank in which they have been unconsciously laying up a wealth of energy and force against the day of final test, and now that we are in the war, all these vast resources will be let loose; and with American energy, skill, courage and aptitude for the performing of big tasks effectively, turned to the solution of Europe's war problems, our victory is certain. To use one of President Wilson's apt phrases, "the world will be made safe for democracy," and American prowess, thrown into the balance against autocracy, will accomplish the task.

A REASON FOR IT.

Austria and Serbia first began to bite at each other's throats, that three years afterward would see the landing in Europe of the first contingent of an American army that may soon pass the million mark? Yet the world is not large and every member of the human race is bound to every other member by ties indissoluble. People talk of neutrality, but is there any such thing today? The world is a misnomer. Humanity must rise or fall together, and the destiny of earth's children can never be decided by any one nation or any number of nations acting contrary to the best interests of all the inhabitants of the globe, any more than one individual in a family, whether he be a bully or a pacifist, can bring peace into a discordant household without the cooperation of every member of it. The extreme pacifist is a dreamer who accomplishes nothing, while the crazed militarist acts only for his own selfish interest, regardless of the misery he brings to the rest of the world. But sooner or later the intense training which the recruits must undergo before they are sent abroad should be conversational French and conversational German. The French government undoubtedly will furnish interpreters to accompany every regiment that arrives in Europe, but our army and its officers will labor under a great handicap if they must rely upon these translators.

Teach Soldiers to Speak French.

[New York Herald:] In the knapsack of every American soldier who goes to France should be French and German grammars and dictionaries. Included in the course of intensive training which the recruits must undergo before they are sent abroad should be conversational French and conversational German. The French government undoubtedly will furnish interpreters to accompany every regiment that arrives in Europe, but our army and its officers will labor under a great handicap if they must rely upon these translators.

THE POLITE STRANGER.

BY ALMA WHITTAKER.

Not the least mysterious of war's little tremors is that coterie of courteous, "polite strangers" who have taken up their residence in every city—agents of the Department of Justice, I believe, is their official title. They are not exactly secret service agents, but they belong to the Federal department which is attending to numerous little matters in connection with the war.

Several of our prominent men were swapping experiences regarding them at the club the other day. One had just spent twenty-four hours of most acute misery. An extremely quiet and courteous gentleman in plain clothes had touched him politely on the shoulder as he was leaving his office.

"Mr. So-and-so, do believe? Will you have the goodness to present yourself at room No. — in the Federal Building at 10 a.m. tomorrow morning? Thank you."

And he was handed a neat little card with his own name and address and business written in, followed by instructions where and when to appear.

That was all. The polite stranger had gone before he had quite recovered his breath. He looked down dazedly for the handouts and was pleasantly surprised to find none. But he had all the sensations of being under arrest. No hands were necessary; he knew he would go as required, no matter what his emotions.

A perfectly good American, he pondered on his possible crime. In what way could he have offended? In how had he possibly failed in his loyalty? Not a wink of sleep for him that night, which was spent in reviewing fearfully his whole past life. What could they want with him? The stranger was so very polite, so very comfortably decisive. He felt like a marked man. Oh, what he had done! He grew increasingly nervous as the hours wore on. His business tribulations seemed so trifling in the face of this mysterious demand. Anything can happen in war time. Would he be able to clear himself of the charges against him? He steeled with strange yearning upon his family. He felt an urge to set his affairs in order. After 10 a.m. the next morning would he ever be the same man again? He did not quite like to think of his friends, his family, his friends in his friends. Maybe the government was considering him for some very special confidential mission. Or maybe he was involved in some dark intrigue.

Arrived at that fatal room in the Federal Building next morning, he found fifty other men awaiting in like manner—several of them friends of his who had suffered a like twenty-four hours of perturbation. They were all restless and unhappy. They talked in staccato whispers. They eyed each other with suspicion. What did the authorities want of them?

At last his turn came. Ushered into a room filled with serious-looking men, all dreadfully polite and courteous, he felt his knees quake beneath him.

Well, all they really happened to want was a little information concerning one of his employees. A man suspected of being highly proficient in a branch of the work for which the government was recruiting specially trained men. As he told it to his friends afterwards he could have screamed with relief. He never quite realized the fearful tension of the preceding hours until that moment of pleasant enlightenment.

But not all of the men so accosted by the polite agent come off so happily. There are wild tales going the round of polite agents who are of scintillating tactful drivers, as waiters in hotels and smart restaurants, as residential guests in big resorts, even as janitors of apartment houses. The government is redacting to many channels of information, and the police are to be believed. But the Federal agent is always polite, always courteous and unobtrusive. One may be handed one of those harp-tongued little cards at the most unexpected place by the most unexpected person. One good American with a foreign name met a like fate at the hands of his taxi driver after a merry evening at a well-known resort only a few nights ago. He was merely required to explain a few little discrepancies regarding himself in the information recorded about him, which he was happily able to do, but not before he had spent twenty-four hours of acute anguish.

These polite agents give an impression that the government is performing a painful duty in the most gentlemanly manner possible. But it is done. It is not one of us who is so insignificant that we can count on escaping the eagle eye. If our consciences are clear we have nothing to fear, but those of us who are harboring disloyal schemes will find the polite stranger an irksome presence. These are war times, gentlemen, and we are living great melodrama. Who knows but what every club and organization is not under capable and discreet surveillance? The dispassionate waiters who take our orders, the courteous chauffeur, the quiet little elevator man, the busy janitor, the very collector at our door may conceivably be Federal agents engaged in culting information for the public good.

Privileges Cur-Tailed.

[Kansas City Star:] A rolling of the Kansas City Commissioner prohibits dogs from going into diners, restaurants or kitchens of hotels or being permitted to get into the beds. Indeed, we believe that they are accorded no liberties about the place beyond parking back in their chairs on the front porch while smoking their cigars and bragging about how many goods they sold in the last town.

DEFENDING AMERICA.

(CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMES BY ALBERT BUSHNELL HART, Professor of Government at Harvard University.)

SINCE the passage of the new army bill on May 13 the United States, for the first time in its history, has an army composed of three groups of soldiers—the regulars, the militia and the force which is often spoken of as made up of "conscripts," but ought now and henceforth to be called the national army. This force is truly national because it is to be made up of elements from every State and Territory; because it is based upon the national principle of universal conscription; and because it is to be selected out of those men who are liable in case of need to military service.

In practice it is certain that the three bodies of troops will be fed, clothed, housed and trained by the army by different roads. They will all have to go through the same training, unless they have already seen military service. They will all receive the same uniforms, equipment, ammunition, and most of them the same muskets. They will have the same pay, go through the same grades of the service and be subject to the same discipline and command. Every one of these regiments will be officered by national authority. No longer, as in the days of the Civil War, will Governors have the right to appoint and commission regimental officers. No longer will the man who can raise thirty recruits claim a lieutenantcy—the man who can combine together 100 men insist on being a captain, and the son of a manufacturer who can prevail on 1000 men to enlist have a sure thing for a colonelcy. The National Army is not made up of States armies brought together for national general officers. The States militia regiments and the regiments of the National Army will bear State numbers and engage in generous rivalry with each other; but the militia will be subject in all respects to Federal control.

Several difficult questions will present themselves. One is the status of negroes. Under the doctrine of chance they will be drawn into the army in the same proportion as their number in the whole population, so that more than half of the South Carolina troops, for instance, will be colored men; and the total number of negroes in the first contingent of the new army will be about 50,000. The 300,000 Indians will normally furnish 1500 soldiers. Aliens who declare their intention to become citizens will also be proportionately included in the first contingent, not less than 50 per cent, and perhaps not less than 50 per cent, of those who are drawn will be unable to pass the necessary physical examinations. Some will be rejected on a mental test, so that there will be confusion and heart burning over the process.

Then will come the task of drawing 500,000 young men from every part of the country and from every race of the American people, into one military force, with one national spirit. They must show themselves capable of intelligent warfare; they must learn how to dig trenches, how to march, how to march without raising their heads, to march and camp and make ducats. They must learn the elbow touch of the soldier, the sense of comradeship, the spirit of duty; for an army is not made up simply of men, but of trained men, resolute men, men who will act together in common love of country.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

RESPONSIBILITY.

Oh, Kaiser Bill, with hands so red, you cannot shift your load of blame; you were not driven, forced or led—you broke your way into the war. There would have been no war, Red Bill, no other monarchs sought a fray, but you were hot to go, you broke a drunken coronation to "The Day." Had you but said, "Let war talk cease," no legions would have marched to die, and we would see the dove of peace where now the battle pennons fly. But you, my carriage was ablaze and "War Lord" dreams disturbed your sleep, and your butcher's name is cursed wherever soldiers' widows weep. As horror mounts on horror's head, and famine makes your people thin, you wish your hands were not so red, and whine that yours is not the sin. But all the weary world is bored when you endeavor to explain that you were loath to take the sword, and strove for peace, and strove in vain. You built your war machine to kill, you longed to see your neighbors wrecked; admit the truth, oh, bloody Bill, and gale some fragments of respect.

From Bibles to Guns.

[Youth's Companion:] War brings many curious changes. A few months ago the American Bible Society sent to Panama a fine power boat, the Goodwill, for the use of its new Bible house there in supplying Bibles to the vessels that pass through the canal. Now the boat, mounting a gun, is in the government patrol service.

Stocks and Bonds.
HIGH CALL-MONEY RATES
MAKE TRADERS CAUTIOUS.

Uncertain Prices Become Firm, Only to Fall Back.
Strength of Rails is Feature of Midday Rally—Pacific
Mail Leads the Steamship List—Bonds are Again Inclined to Drop.

NEW YORK, June 12.—Trading proceeded with greater caution today, a logical result of the factors in the general financial situation. Foremost among these was the stiffer money rates. Call loans didn't rise to their maximum of the previous day, ruling between 2 1/2 and 4 per cent, but time accommodations hardened 1/4 of 1 per cent, for most maturities.

Prices were uncertain at the outset but became firmer almost immediately, only to fall back before the end of the first hour. At midday another rally was in order, the movement attaining wider proportions than the strength of call loans.

Transcontinental, grangers, coal and minor western and southern issues figured among the active rails at extreme gains of 1 to 2 1/2 points. Pacific Mail led the steamship shares at a further advance of 2 points.

Dealings dwindled on the rebound, the rise evidently failing to evoke outside interest. Best quotations were made in the final hour but the movement was again subject to profit-taking in the afternoon.

United States Steel, which fell to 129 1/2 on the liberal offerings of the forenoon, rallied to 131 1/2 and closed at 130 1/2, a net gain of 1/2 of a point. Bethlehem, new stock, and Lackawanna Steel made extreme gains of 3 1/2 to 3 points, and Savage Arms, one of the inactive munitions, made a net gain of 3 points, at 85.

Industrial Alcohol and United Cigar Stores were among the active issues at the finish. Motors, oils and sugars were backward throughout the day.

Total sales, 775,000 shares. Bonds were inclined to drop, Pacific showing some irregularity with low-priced convertibles. Total sales, par value, $2,450,000. United States Steel was the most active, but the coupon is fell 1/4 per cent on a single sale.

GOOD DEMAND FOR UNION OIL STOCK.

General Petroleum in Better Shape—Mt. Diablo Climbs—Producers' Transportation Active—United Eastern is Firm.

Prices held fairly steady at yesterday's session of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange and trading in the higher-priced oil stocks was again heavy. Union particularly was in demand, although Tom Reed again fell to 122 1/2, a recovery was made to 123 1/2 at the close. General Petroleum was in better shape at 101 1/2 to 102 and associated changed to 101 1/2 to 102.

Diablo continued to climb and sales were recorded at 1.30. Producers' Transportation was active off board at 17 1/2 and Union Sugar brought 92 1/2. Home Telephone stocks and Los Angeles Industries were neglected and public interest in the same has been noticeably lacking of late.

The metals group was practically unchanged, although Tom Reed again broke badly, a loss of 5 points being registered as compared to the previous day. United Eastern was firm at 4 1/2 and there seems to be a heavy demand for the security during the past few days. It is expected in local investment circles that this company will show a recovery in the near future.

Monthly dividends in July and it is this knowledge no doubt that has been responsible for the broad inquiry that has been manifested for the issue so far this week. Yellow Pine was up a point at 1 1/2 but declined to 1 1/4. There seems to be a heavy demand for the security during the past few days. It is expected in local investment circles that this company will show a recovery in the near future.

GRAIN.
WHEAT BEARS AIDED
BY IDEAL WEATHER.

RAIN AND WARMTH AFFECT THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Reports of increased arrivals in Great Britain and of a liberal floating supply from Argentina on prices today. The outcome was an unsettled finish, 1 to 5 net lower, with July at 2 1/2 and September at 2 1/4. Corn closed 1/4 to 3/4 down, and oats 1/2 to 1 1/4. Provisions wound up unchanged to 30 higher.

Welcome rain fell in the spring-wheat region whereas warm weather prevailed throughout most of the winter-crop territory. Reports of increased arrivals of wheat in Great Britain and of a liberal floating supply counted against the bulls. Scarcity of cash offerings here and at other domestic centers, however, helped to check declines and to bring about a recovery in the afternoon. Business showed no increase of volume over what has been the rule for some time.

Corn, like wheat, went down due to the better weather conditions. White and yellow corn were down 1/4 to 1/2. Provisions were generally optimistic.

Cattle failed earlier in sympathy with corn. Provisions were in brisk demand. Members of the Board of Trade will vote next Tuesday on the adoption of a resolution to broaden the markets and encourage business from sections, especially the North and West and the Pacific Coast, which have been unable to deliver upon their contracts the wheat which they produce.

PRICES AGAIN JUMP;
HIGHEST IN 46 YEARS.

GAINS OF MORE THAN $10 A BALE IN TWO DAYS.

Sharp Reaction Follows Establishment of New High Levels and Quotations are Carried Down Nearly 60 Points—Humors of Closing Exchange Denied.

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 12.—The prediction of some cotton traders that cotton would sell at 25 cents came true today. Spot cotton and contracts for deliveries in May and July touched that figure. This represents a gain of more than $10 a bale during the last two trading days and an increase of more than $8 a bale in the morning session. Prices paid for cotton today are the highest since 1871.

The market was again active and after new high levels were reached in the early trading a sharp reaction set in which carried prices down nearly 60 points from the top. On this bank reports of more liberal southern spot offerings attracted considerable liquidation and there was also a good deal of short selling by local traders, the latter providing a basis for a violent upturn near the close, which left final prices at 62 points net higher, with the tone of the market very steady.

The market opened firm, at an advance of 1/2 to 1/4 points. This was in line with very strong Liverpool market. Stop orders by short operators and an improved spot demand with a belief that there would not be enough cotton to go around, caused a considerable advance, the close being 10 to 15 points higher than the previous day. Traders here say that similar to that of the previous day, trade interests absorbing most of the offerings on the early advance. Speculative operations were reduced to a minimum as commission-houses continued their advice against any new business on the part of customers.

Rumors in circulation that the exchange was contemplating closing or eliminating one or more contracts at the high prices now prevailing were denied by officials, who said there was no occasion for any such action as the market was merely reflecting legitimate conditions.

COLTON MERCHANTS WILL TAKE BONDS

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.)

COLTON, June 12.—To do "his" toward helping the government, the Colton Merchants Association has decided on redeeming all paid-up Liberty Bonds to the extent of $5000 in certificates or on accounts at par value. The merchants believe by so doing they can better protect the war-time business of buying a bond, but most of all, they are able to do so without it in case of some emergency when payments could not be met.

DELAY ACTION ON BILLBOARDS.

Legal Stop is Put to Voting by Attorney's Ruling.

Recalcitrant Members Tell Why They Objected.

Association's Representative Says Test Isn't Planned.

After a majority of the members of the City Council had declared themselves yesterday morning as in favor of voting for the billboard ordinance, action was postponed until Tuesday because of a rule prohibiting a vote to pass any measure in less than a week from the time it is officially presented. The Council was reminded of the rule by City Attorney Stephens, who stated that it was applicable, providing any member made objection to immediate action. Such an objection was registered by Councilmen Wright and Collins.

Before this unexpected phase developed, Mr. Collins stated that he had been informed that representatives of the billboard association desired a delay of two or three days, so they could present several proposed amendments to the ordinance. He made a motion that the request be granted. When a vote was taken on the question, Messrs. Collins, Wright and Wheeler and Mrs. Lindsey supported it; Messrs. Conwell, Brain, Roberts, Langford and Betkouski voted against it.

In explaining his vote, Mr. Langford declared that he agreed with Mr. Brain, who had formerly stated that he looked upon the vote cast at the general election last week as a decision of the people. He stated that as a result, he stated that he was ready to vote for the ordinance. Mr. Roberts made a similar explanation.

RIGHT TO FORCE.
When the City Attorney gave his opinion as to whether the Council had a legal right to take immediate action several of the members asserted that they did not believe that the few changes made in the original draft of the measure should be considered sufficient to declare it a new ordinance. The attorney replied that at least two of the changes were very material, but stated that if there was no objection on the part of any Councilman to taking the ordinance up at that time it could be legally done. It was then that Messrs. Collins and Wright objected.

John T. Williams, an attorney from San Francisco, and Sam Haskins, a local attorney, both of whom represent the billboard association, were permitted to address the Council. They declared that it is not the desire of the association to erect or maintain billboards in the residential districts, and that it will favor any ordinance prohibiting them. They made it clear, however, that there are several propositions in the ordinance which are objectionable to the association, and stated that they believe it will be possible to make some amendments which will be mutually satisfactory.

Councilman Conwell replied that there is no excuse for delaying action, and that he believes the people demand it. He stated that he had taken up the ordinance with the City Attorney and the latter has agreed that the measure will stand the test of law.

SHE'S IN FAVOR.
Mrs. Lindsey hereupon stated that she is in favor of an ordinance eliminating billboards from the residential districts, but that she is not of the opinion that the people really know the contents of the ordinance when they voted last week.

"I do not believe that 95 per cent. of the voters knew just what the ordinance calls for," she said.

Mr. Wheeler made a statement to the effect he is willing to vote on the ordinance, but declared that he will have some suggestions to make when the measure comes up next week. He would not divulge what he intends to propose, but intimated that it will be of considerable importance.

Discussing the proposition, Attorney Williams stated that the billboard association has no desire to make a legal test of the ordinance and will not do so if certain changes are made. He stated that the proposed ordinance is the strictest anti-billboard measure ever drafted in the United States.

KNOCK OUT.
Supreme Court Holds Pasadena Gives City Electrician Undue Power, so Sustains Ruling Giving Plain Citizens Injunction.

By affirming the judgment of the lower courts granting Robert H. Graydon, a disabled citizen, an injunction to restrain the city from interfering with the electric wiring in his home, the State Supreme Court took a fall out of the Pasadena ordinance that gives the city electrician power to regulate electrical wiring and apparatus in buildings.

Under the ordinance the city electrician, as the agent of the city, was empowered to pass judgment and make his determination upon the question of whether or not the wiring was safe; but the court held that he was inadequately controlled by a specific limitation of his powers, thus leaving to his own discretion the determination whether or not, in a given instance, the wiring was dangerous to life and property.

FOR RED CROSS.
A Red Cross benefit garden party will be held in the gardens of former Mayor Henry T. Haskins, No. 114 South Main street, Saturday afternoon, the 16th inst., at 2 o'clock. The fête is to be given under the auspices of the "First-school" auxiliary of the Red Cross. A number of noted theatrical people will furnish an interesting program. There will be fortune telling and pretty maidens will preside at various other booths. Mrs. O. E. Frank is chairman of the Entertainment Committee and Mrs. Charles S. Craft is vice-chairman of the auxiliary.

In Strange Tangle of Mystery, Death.

The family of George W. Quick, slain and buried in the Potter's Field under a false name. His widow and daughter, Mrs. Hancock, have dedicated themselves to the task of bringing to justice the man whom they believe guilty of having caused his death.

ARRESTED MAN TURNS INFORMER.
ETERNAL TRIANGLE REVEALED IN MANN ACT CASE.

One Good Act Deserving Another, Alleged Paramour Causes Incarceration of Husband Who Told on Him and Also Woman in the Case.

Joseph Gros, who was taken into custody Monday night at a local dance hall, charged with violating the Mann White Slave Act, made a statement yesterday to Special Agent Webster of the Department of Justice that led to the arrests of James Caracadden by attaches of the Sheriff's office, and of his wife, Margaret, in Seattle, whether she had slooped some time ago with the first named.

The story involves the eternal triangle. It appears that Caracadden had instigated the arrest of Gros on the charge of trifling with the affections of his wife, and Gros retaliated later by having Caracadden taken into custody. The latter had just been released, after having been prosecuted for an alleged attempt to slay his handsome wife, Margaret, by forcing tropine down her throat. He is now charged with covering his wife into an immoral life, while his wife and Gros are charged with violating the Mann White Slave Act.

It is alleged Gros and Caracadden met on the streets in this city a few days ago, and sought to settle their differences by the fist route, with the result that Caracadden filed a complaint against Gros. When Caracadden is alleged to have attempted to kill his wife's neighbors were attracted by the cries of their two little children. The police were notified and when two detectives arrived on the scene it is alleged that Caracadden was astride the prostrate woman trying to administer the poison. The husband was released, with the consent of his wife.

Determined.
INQUIRY ASKED.

Andis Official to Ask the Court for Mandamus to Compel Submission of Records Bearing on Expenditures of Last Power House.

W. C. Muehle, head of the Muehle Audit Company, who last week made a demand upon the Board of Public Service Commissioners for access to their records and accounts in order that he might investigate the manner in which the last power bond issue was expended, and who was refused access to the books, will seek this right through legal action.

This forenoon through his attorneys, Delphin M. Delmas and Harry W. McNitt, he will petition the presiding judge of the Superior Court for a writ of mandamus, compelling the commission to give him access to the records and accounts pertaining to the expenditure of the bond fund money.

President Del Valle of the Public Service Commission said yesterday, in response to an inquiry as to whether the commission's action asking the grand jury to investigate its records had been forwarded to that body.

"We have not yet sent notice of our action to the grand jury. We shall do so. I presume we shall send a copy of the minutes containing that section, including the motion as made and passed, and that we shall send copies to both the District Attorney and the grand jury."

SNIVELY WANTS CARDS SHOWN.

"Record" Answer in Libel Suit Doesn't Satisfy.

Court Rules Plaintiff is Right in Contention.

Means Second Amendment of Bill of Particulars.

The Record skidded clear off the road yesterday in the $125,000 libel suit of ex-Chief of Police C. E. Snively against the Record Publishing Company. The machine lay there while John H. Perry, general counsel, sought by legal argument to set it back again, the amended answer to Mr. Snively's complaint being found not "hefty" enough to right the car.

Mr. Snively is virtually on trial, and the question was whether or not he is entitled to have notice of the things the Record intends to prove. Judge Wilbur inclined to the opinion that the plaintiff must be specific in his allegations of a company of several thousand in a dining room which seals only 600, so it has been decided to rigidly carry out the rule, "first come, first served," and those wishing to attend are asked to send in their reservations before the special entertainment feature of the Flak University Jubilee Singers begins, and will place their names with numerous folk songs. There will be several ten-minute talks on "live" topics, and the Vincent Morgan, attorney for Mr. Snively, then read the article to the court and demanded to know where it was specific. He held that Mr. Snively was entitled to know without a very definite knowledge of what he is being tried for.

Judge Wilbur continued the case until Monday morning, and meantime, Attorney Perry will prepare a second amended answer, specifically setting out the alleged libelous article was published.

FROM DR. KNOFF.
Dr. S. Adolphus Knoff, of New York City, one of the most distinguished specialists in tuberculosis in the United States, and author of several works on that subject, is now a captain in the army, and writes to a friend here in Los Angeles:

"These are indeed sad and serious times, and to one whose cradle stood in Germany they are doubly painful. I have known President Wilson say, 'This is not a war against the German people; it is a war for human liberty, to free the German people as well as to free the world from Prussian domination.'"

"So I must be brave and gladly do my duty wherever I may be called to perform it. The government does not want to send me to the front, claiming that I shall be needed more here when our boys come back sick or wounded."

"In the meantime I am drilling, attending lectures on military hygiene and military surgery, and studying recruiting work, with the view to prevent entrance of tuberculosis recruits into the army."

"I made some suggestions concerning this important topic, to Surgeon General, and it is very gratifying to know that they have been accepted and put into operation."

New Playground.
Arrangements were made by the Council yesterday to secure another playground camp when the City Attorney was directed to make formal application to the government for a permit to occupy a suitable site in the San Bernardino Mountains, at the foot of Old Gray Back. The site can be reached through the Santa Ana Canyon. It is known as Converse Flats.

At the Courthouse.
WEDDED WOES WIN WOMAN A DIVORCE.

DECREE CLOSES LONG CHAPTER OF INDIGNITIES.

Husband Filed Her with Liquor While She Was Bride, She Says, and Assaulted by Another Followed. Shooting and Suit Over Kings Also Part of Story.

Mrs. Rebecca Kantrowitz was granted a divorce from Abraham Kantrowitz by Judge Thomas yesterday on the ground of wilful neglect and non-support. The divorce action was the finale to a series of events that began shortly after she was married. While she was a bride she reported to the authorities that her husband had taken her to a club and given her liquor, and in this condition she was subjected to indignities at the hands of another person.

Later she claimed that her husband's parents had in diamond engagement ring and wedding ring and she sued for their recovery. She was given judgment for $2,000, her father-in-law was shot and killed by a bandit who was robbing his store, and the mother-in-law satisfied Mrs. Kantrowitz's judgment.

Chamber of Commerce will have Luncheon at Noon Thursday for Purpose of "Recruits" Meeting "Veterans" of This Live Body.

The Chamber of Commerce has issued invitations to its 1000 new members to meet at 1000 "veteran" members at a luncheon to be held at Hotel Alexandria on Thursday at noon.

An excellent programme has been arranged, and the only problem that confronts the committee in charge is how to accommodate a company of several thousand in a dining room which seals only 600, so it has been decided to rigidly carry out the rule, "first come, first served," and those wishing to attend are asked to send in their reservations before the special entertainment feature of the Flak University Jubilee Singers begins, and will place their names with numerous folk songs. There will be several ten-minute talks on "live" topics, and the Membership Committee will report briefly what it has accomplished during its recent vigorous campaign. Seats for the luncheon may be reserved by phone or mail.

According to the testimony of Dr. Danielson, Bennett frequently called Mrs. Danielson by telephone and talked to her of occult beliefs. Detectives are still searching for Mrs. Danielson.
